KEY FEATURE Glazed partition

Alexandra and Leo wanted their master en suite to feel like it was part of the bedroom – window panels separating the two zones were the perfect solution. They allow light to flood into both rooms and sticking to similar tones in the furnishings ties the whole space together effortlessly. Adding blinds is a great way to offer privacy when it's needed. For glazed steel panels like these, try specialist supplier Clement (clementwindows.co.uk). Expect to pay from £7,500, plus installation costs.
